

Biographical Note

Dr Fawad Sadiq

Dr. Fawad Sadiq is an accomplished academic professional serving as the Director of Quality Enhancement at Riphah International University in Islamabad, Pakistan. With over a decade of expertise in his field, Dr. Sadiq boasts a highly impressive educational background, having earned a BSc in Computer Engineering from the University of Engineering and Technology in Lahore, followed by MS and PhD degrees in Engineering Management from the National University of Sciences and Technology in Islamabad. In addition to his educational achievements, Dr. Sadiq is a qualified ISO 9001 Quality Management System Lead Auditor and an ISO 21001 Educational Organization Management System Lead Auditor. He has received extensive training from the Higher Education Commission in Pakistan in quality assurance matters, including institutional performance evaluation and postgraduate programs review. He has extensive experience conducting audits against ISO 9001 QMS standards and HEC criteria, with a focus on improving governance, research, and academics. Dr. Sadiq's areas of interest and expertise include innovation management, quality management system implementation and assessment, quality assurance in e-learning, and the development of an integrated institutional effectiveness framework for higher education institutes. As an active researcher in his field, he has published numerous research papers in leading international journals and has presented his work related to quality assurance at international conferences, including INQAAHE.