INTEGRATED ACCREDITATION PROCESS

CPQD

process of integrated procedure for international and professional-public accreditation of educational programs

Educational organization

Certificate of professional and public accreditation

Certificate of international accreditation

International accreditation is a procedure for assessing the compliance of Russian educational programs with international and European quality standards. It is carried out by accreditation agencies that are members of the European Higher Education Quality Assurance Association (ENQA) and registered in the European Register of Quality Assurance Agencies (EQAR).

Professional and public accreditation of professional educational programs is the recognition of the quality and level of training of graduates who meet the requirements of professional standards, labor market requirements for specialists, workers and employees of the relevant profile.

THE OBJECTIVE OF JOINT ACCREDITATION

- 1 External independent evaluation and confirmation of the quality of educational programs by professional associations and communities in Russia and abroad
- 2 Improving the quality of education and training of graduates, in accordance with the requirements of the labor market
- 3 Strengthening the competitiveness of educational programs at the national and international level

PARTICULAR PROBLEMS OF EVALUATING THE QUALITY OF EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS

- there are not enough students and graduates who have passed an independent assessment of the quality of training according to the assessment tools agreed with the CPQD
- lack of confirmed demand for the educational program, demand for graduates by employers, including targeted training
- lack of confirmation of employers' participation:
 - in the design of educational programs, including the development of planned results of its development, evaluation materials, curricula, work programs, practice programs, topics of final qualifying works that are significant for the relevant areas of professional activity;
 - in the organization of project work of students;
 - in the development and implementation of practical training programs, the formation of planned results of their passage;
 - in the development of topics for term papers and final qualification papers that are relevant to the relevant areas of professional activity.

THE DIRECTION OF SOLVING PROBLEMS

- strengthening the role of employers in the preparation of educational programs

COOPERATION WITH AKKORK

In October 2019, the Council for Professional Qualifications Development approved a Method for combining the requirements of professional and public accreditation and international accreditation of the Agency for quality control of education and career development*.

The goals of cooperation are:

- 1 Comprehensive assessment of the quality of educational programs, considering Russian and international practices.
- 2 Increase in domestic and international student mobility.
